Understanding
the mixed economy of welfare
Also available in the series

Understanding social security (Third edition)
Edited by Jane Millar and Howard Glennerster
“An indispensable, up-to-date guide to the UK social security system written by the country’s leading experts in a clear and engaging style.” Karen Rowlingson, University of Birmingham
280 pages April 2018
INSPECTION COPY AVAILABLE

Understanding the cost of welfare (Third edition)
Howard Glennerster
“Understanding the costs and financing of welfare has rarely been so lively, engaging and real. Howard Glennerster has produced a text of outstanding scholarship, essential for undergraduate and postgraduate courses right across the social sciences.” Chris Deeming, Reviews Editor for the Journal of Social Policy and Chancellor’s Fellow and Senior Lecturer, University of Strathclyde
288 pages May 2017
INSPECTION COPY AVAILABLE

Understanding health and social care (Third edition)
Jon Glasby
“This welcome third edition updates a most useful textbook for UK social science and social policy students. Its policy analysis is also particularly relevant to professional readers seeking to know how we arrived at the state we’re in.” Jill Manthorpe, Director of the Social Care Workforce Research Unit, King’s College London
232 pages January 2017
INSPECTION COPY AVAILABLE

Understanding community (Second edition)
Peter Somerville
“In developing his conception of beloved community, Peter Somerville brings a fresh and radical perspective to communitarian theory and practice. This book will inspire and provoke readers in equal measure.” Jonathan Davies, University of Warwick
272 pages April 2016
INSPECTION COPY AVAILABLE

For a full listing of all titles in the series visit www.policypress.co.uk
Understanding
the mixed economy of welfare

2nd edition

Edited by Martin Powell
This book is dedicated to Professor Norman Johnson (1936–2017), my former colleague at the University of Portsmouth, and pioneer of the study of the Mixed Economy of Welfare.
Contents

Detailed contents

List of boxes, figures and tables

Notes on contributors

1. Introduction: the mixed economy of welfare and the social division of welfare
   Martin Powell

2. The mixed economy of welfare in historical context
   John Stewart

3. The state
   Brian Lund

4. Market welfare
   Robin Miller

5. Voluntary and community welfare
   Rob Macmillan and James Rees

6. Informal welfare
   Martin Powell

7. The benefits and inequalities of fiscal welfare
   Adrian Sinfield

8. Occupational welfare
   Edward Brunsdon and Margaret May

9. The mixed economy of welfare: a comparative perspective
   Michael Hill

10. Conclusion: analyses in the mixed economy of welfare and the social division of welfare
    Martin Powell

Index
Detailed contents

1 Introduction: the mixed economy of welfare and the social division of welfare 1
Overview 1
Introduction 1
Social policy and the welfare mix 4
The social division of welfare 7
Components of the mixed economy of welfare 9
Dimensions of the mixed economy of welfare 10
Conclusions 14
Summary 15
Questions for discussion 15
Further reading 15
Electronic resources 15
References 16

2 The mixed economy of welfare in historical context 21
Overview 21
Introduction 21
Thinking historically about the state and welfare 24
Thinking historically about the family and welfare 27
Thinking historically about the market and welfare 30
Thinking historically about the voluntary/charitable sector and welfare 32
Conclusion 35
Summary 36
Questions for discussion 36
Further reading 36
Electronic resources 37
References 37

3 The state 41
Overview 41
Introduction: the state 42
The welfare state: then and now 44
The ‘welfare mix’ 46
Welfare pluralism and local government: out and in the mix? 49
The welfare mix, ‘the new managerialism’ and ‘joined up governance’ 51
Devolution 52
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The state and the distribution/redistribution of income</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brexit and the 2017 general election</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conclusion</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions for discussion</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Further reading</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Electronic resources</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 Market welfare</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Overview</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Private, public or market?</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Why privatise the welfare state?</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What are the concerns about privatisation?</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Market welfare: trends over time</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Market welfare and English health care in practice</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Privatisation in policy</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Impacts of privatisation policies in the English NHS</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conclusion</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions for discussion</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Further reading</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Electronic resources</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 Voluntary and community welfare</td>
<td>91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Overview</td>
<td>91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction: definitions</td>
<td>91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scope</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Historical development</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The broad policy context: from New Labour to Brexit</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Challenges</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Future prospects</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions for discussion</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Further reading</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Electronic resources</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
6 Informal welfare
Overview
Introduction
History of informal care
The number and characteristics of carers
Informal care after the Care Act 2014
Informal welfare in comparative context
Conclusion
Summary
Questions for discussion
Further reading
Electronic resources
References

7 The benefits and inequalities of fiscal welfare
Overview
Introduction: the forms and scale of fiscal welfare
The move to tax credits
Fiscal welfare for retirement
Fiscal welfare and the welfare state
Fiscal welfare in comparative perspective
Conclusion
Summary
Questions for discussion
Further reading
Electronic resources
References

8 Occupational welfare
Overview
Introduction
What is occupational welfare?
Key recent developments
Case study 1: workplace pensions
Case study 2: workplace healthcare
Conclusion: occupational provision, the MEW and SDW
Summary
Questions for discussion
Further reading
Electronic resources
References
9 The mixed economy of welfare: a comparative perspective 183
Overview 183
Introduction 183
Regime theory 184
Income maintenance 187
Health care 191
Social care 193
Conclusions 199
Summary 200
Questions for discussion 201
Further reading 201
Electronic resources 201
References 202

10 Conclusion: analyses in the mixed economy of welfare and the social division of welfare 205
Overview 205
Introduction 205
The MEW and SDW over time and space 206
The MEW and SDW under New Labour, Coalition and Conservative governments: from the 'Third Way' to the 'Big Society' 209
The three-dimensional MEW 212
Analysing the MEW 215
'The ghost at the feast': the MEW's links to other debates 216
The impact of the MEW and the SDW 218
Conclusions 220
Summary 221
Questions for discussion 221
Further reading 221
Electronic resources 221
References 222
List of boxes, figures and tables

Boxes

2.1 The mixed economy of welfare in action: Margaret (1950s) and Jane (1980s) 23
4.1 Examples of online comments regarding privatisation 76
4.2 Public sector markets 84
5.1 The voluntary and community sector in children and young people’s services 95
5.2 The voluntary and community sector in criminal justice 97
5.3 Public services and ‘Prime’ contracting 101
6.1 ‘Job advertisement’ for the post of ‘carer’ 118
6.2 Recognition of informal care 120
6.3 Recognition of the gendered nature of informal care 121
7.1 Key terms 136
7.2 Tax allowances and tax credits 137
7.3 Child Tax Credit 141
7.4 Working Tax Credit 142
7.5 Lifetime and annual allowances 144
10.1 Sidney Webb’s account of the importance of the state 206
10.2 Alternative account of the importance of non-state welfare 207
10.3 The modern MEW, stressing the importance of non-state welfare 212
10.4 Debates not linked to the MEW 216

Figures

4.1 Economic and political authority: example from education in England 70
4.2 Wheels of welfare 71

Tables

1.1 Three-dimensional MEW (provision, finance and regulation) 14
3.1 The changing profile of welfare expenditure: England, 1979/80 to 2013/14 48
3.2 The state and the redistribution of income (Gini coefficient) 55
4.1 Common examples of market–public mixes of welfare 67
7.1 Major tax and other reliefs related to social policy, UK, 1995–6, 2005–6 and 2017–18 139
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>8.1 Mandatory and non-mandatory benefits and services in the UK (2018)</td>
<td>163</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.1 Components of the welfare mix</td>
<td>186</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.2 Public sector health spend as a percentage of total health spend 2015</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.3 A typology of systems highlighting alternative approaches to care</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.4 Logical alternative care patterns</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.1 Recent moves in the MEW</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Notes on contributors

Edward Brunsdon is an Honorary Research Fellow in the School of Social Policy at the University of Birmingham. He has taught a range of social policy, research methods and human resource management courses. His main areas of research include work-based welfare, pensions policy, executive reward and human resource management.

Michael Hill is Emeritus Professor of Social Policy at the University of Newcastle and an Honorary Fellow of the School of Social Science at the University of Brighton. He combines an interest in many aspects of social policy with a commitment to the study of the policy process. During much of his early career he researched on social security, employment and social care. His long-standing text The Public Policy Process has reached its seventh edition in a joint version with Frederic Varone of the University of Geneva. He is working with Zoë Irving on a comparative text on social policy.

Rob Macmillan is a Principal Research Fellow at CRESR, the Centre for Regional Economic and Social Research at Sheffield Hallam University. He has been researching aspects of the third sector for over twenty years, in collaboration with other academics and researchers, policy makers and funders, and with key third sector organisations. His main research interests are around the long-term qualitative dynamics of voluntary action, the application of field theory in the third sector, the relationships between markets and the third sector, and capacity building and third sector infrastructure. He is co-editor of Voluntary Sector Review, and is currently working on two ESRC-funded projects: ‘Change in the making: a dynamic and relational landscape of voluntary action’ (2016–20) and ‘Discourses of voluntary action at two “transformational moments” of the welfare state, the 1940s and 2010s’ (2017–19).

Margaret May is an Honorary Research Fellow in the School of Social Policy at the University of Birmingham. She has taught across the span of both social policy and human resource management. Her research interests include employment policy, human resource management, work-based welfare and comparative social policy.
Robin Miller is an applied health and care researcher based at the Health Services Management Centre, University of Birmingham. He has particular interest in the transformation of health care systems, the levers that are available to implement an agreed policy vision and the barriers that can prevent sustainable change. He teaches, evaluates and writes widely on integration, primary care, commissioning, and the role of the voluntary and private sectors. He has published on privatisation in the NHS (with Martin Powell) in the Journal of Social Policy and the Journal of Health Politics, Policy and Law.

Martin Powell is Professor of Health and Social Policy at the Health Services management Centre, University of Birmingham. His main research interest is in the British welfare state, especially the NHS. He has written or edited some 19 books, some of which have been translated into Chinese, Korean and Polish. He has written over 80 peer reviewed articles, and he is a former editor of the journal Social Policy and Administration.

James Rees has been at the Open University since early 2016, where he directs the Centre for Voluntary Sector Leadership at the Open University Business School. Prior to that he was at the Third Sector Research Centre at the University of Birmingham. His research interests are interdisciplinary and span themes of third sector studies, public service reform, and governance, with a particular focus on the role of third sector organisations in delivering public services and the role of leadership. Current research projects examine the social value of small voluntary organisations, the impact of reforms in probation services, and the role of the voluntary sector in mental health crisis services. He is co-editor of Voluntary Sector Review and his jointly edited collection on The Third Sector Delivering Public Services was published by Policy Press in 2016. He has published widely in Policy and Politics, the Journal of Social Policy and Social Policy and Administration, among others.

Adrian Sinfield is Professor Emeritus of Social Policy at the University of Edinburgh, where he has worked since 1979. He has written mainly on social security, poverty, unemployment and the social division of welfare. He has been both Chair and President of the Social Policy Association; a co-founder of the Unemployment Unit, which he chaired for its first ten years, and Vice-Chair of the Child Poverty Action Group. Publications include The Long-term Unemployed (OECD, 1968), What Unemployment Means (Martin Robertson, 1981), The Workless State (co-edited; Martin Robertson, 1981) and Comparing Tax Routes to Welfare in Denmark and the United Kingdom (co-authored; Danish National Institute for Social Research, 1996).

John Stewart is Emeritus Professor of Health History, Glasgow Caledonian University. He has published extensively on welfare history, the history of childhood, and Scottish history. His current project is a biography of Richard Titmuss, sponsored by the Brian Abel-Smith Foundation Fund at the London School of Economics and to be published by Policy Press.